Causes and Effects of Disagreement Among the Muslims on Moon Sighting for the Month of Ramadan Yusuf Sherif 2016

Ramadan My First Fast Musab Alnajjar 2021-04-04 Ramadan is the ninth month of the Islamic calendar and a special time of year for Muslims all around the world. It is a time of fasting, praying, giving, and celebrating.... It is also a wonderful time to learn about Islam and reflect on things we may be too busy for in our daily lives.

Celebrate Ramadan & Eid Al-Fitr Deborah Heiligman 2009 Describes what Ramadan is, how Muslims celebrate this month-long holiday, and how it ends with the celebratory festival of Eid al-Fitr.

Ramadan Moon Na'ima B. Robert 2015-03-15 Ramadan, the month of fasting, doesn't begin all at once. It begins with a whisper And a prayer And a wish. Muslims all over the world celebrate Ramadan and the joyful days of Eid-ul-Fitr at the end of the month of fasting as the most special time of year. This lyrical and inspiring picture book captures the wonder and joy of this great annual event, from the perspective of a child. Accompanied by Iranian inspired illustrations, the story follows the waxing of the moon from the first new crescent to full moon and waning until Eid is heralded by the first sighting of the second new moon. Written and illustrated by Muslims, this is a book for all children who celebrate Ramadan and those in the wider communities who want to understand why this is such a special experience for Muslims.

Islam Masoud Kheirabadi 2004 Presents a study of Islam that examines the history and foundations of this religion, the Muslim worldview, worship practices, cultural expression, holidays, what it is like to grow up Muslim, and Islam in the world today.

Caesarean Moon Births: Calculations, Moon Sighting, and the Prophetic Way Hamza Yusuf 2014-01-10 Prior to the advent of electricity, every night held the possibility of a celestial light show. People in even the most urban environments were exposed to the awe and majesty of the heavens, which clearly "proclaim the glory of God." The contemplation of the celestial orbs and their movements provided early man with the most direct connection to his Lord. In the Qur'anic story of Abraham, it is his observance of heavenly phenomena that leads him to his certainty of God's unity and transcendence. Since the time of the Seljuq Turks, the crescent moon has been a sign of Islam. For Muslims in North America, there has been much confusion regarding when Ramadan begins, when to fast, and when to break the fast. Hamza Yusuf provides clarity through this detailed and scholarly work that decisively makes the case for sighting the crescent moon with the naked eye, as has been the Islamic tradition for 1400 years. This is essential reading for anyone seeking guidance on this important and sacred matter.

Effect of Ramadan Intermittent Fasting on Different Fitness Among Young Muslim Men Anindita Singha 2022-03-19 more than one billion people in the world are Muslims. The major religious period of the Islamic calendar is Ramadan which is considered as a period of purification, internal meditation and regeneration, when healthy post-pubescent Muslims fast from sunrise to sunset for 4 weeks (Zerguini et al., 2007). During the month of Ramadan Muslims abstain from eating, drinking and smoking from sunrise to sunset known as Ramadan intermittent fasting (RIF). Because the Islamic calendar is lunar, Ramadan occurs at different times of the calendar year over a 33-year cycle. This causes the occurrence of Ramadan during markedly different environmental conditions in the same country in different years (Leiper et al., 2003). The length of the RIF depends on the geographical location and the season of the year, and can be as long as 18 h a day in the summer of temperate regions (Meckle et al., 2008). During the month of Ramadan people are allowed to take only two meals in each day, one just before dawn known as Sahur meal and another after sunset known as Iftar meal. All types of foods are allowed during Sahur and Iftar meal but there is a trend for the majority of Muslims to eat foods that are rich in fats, animal proteins and sugar (Chaouachi et al., 2009; Leiper et al., 2003). Normally the gap between Sahur meal and Iftar meal is about 13 hours, i.e., during the RIF, every day the fasting individuals refrain from food and fluid intake for at least 13 hours. This might be a potential cause of dehydration during this time (Ramadan, 2002; El ati et al., 1995). Significance of Ramadan fast: Ramadan is a month of worship, and fasting is the mean of fostering piety. Muslims celebrate the glory of Allah (God) during Ramadan and thank Him for revealing the Qur'an, which they consider a guide for humanity. Muslim thinkers emphasize the religious significance of fasting and its implications for self-purification and spiritual growth, rather than the outward observance of the many rules regarding the fast (Ismail Poonawala, professor of Islamic Studies at University of California and Heather Laird.),

Proceedings of the IIT Lunar Calendar Conference Imad ad-Dean Ahmad 1988 This volume brings together both the elementary scientific facts that any lunar calendar formulation cannot ignore and a summary of the pressing scientific questions of particular interest to the Islamic calendar. Scientific aspects of the problem are thoroughly reviewed without prejudicing the argument in purely Islamic juridical questions and differences. The results are of great significance to both Islamic scholars and the general Muslim public. The papers presented are of a high scientific quality and are followed by a unanimous statement of the professional astronomers on the scientific questions. If these conclusions are followed, the varying sets of conventions used by different Islamic populations can be made self-consistent and free from scientific errors, even if they still differ from each other. This new edition allows the correction of errors in the first edition, makes the style more uniform among the papers, and improves the articles' graphs and figures. It aims to serve as an effective tool for addressing the calendrical issues that motivated the conference more than being merely a historical record. A new Afterword summarizes refinements in the scientific issues that have taken place in the ten years since the conference, many of which were prompted by the work presented here.

Ramadan Susan Douglass 2003-08-01 Muslims around the world celebrate the month of Ramadan to honor Allah. During every day in that month, Muslims do not eat food between sunrise and sunset. Then, each night at sunset, they say special prayers and eat a special meal. After almost four weeks of fasting this way, they have a great three-day festival called Eid al-Fitr to celebrate the challenges they met during Ramadan and the coming year.

Nation of Islam United States. Federal Bureau of Investigation 2003* The Nation of Islam is a group of Negroes' who support the unorthodox Muslim Cult of Islam (MCI). There is also an orthodox religion of Islam. This information consists of monographs that have been prepared and released to the public. The MCI is dedicated to the circulation of hatred against the white race. The Nation of Islam teaches from the Koran, and the profession of faith teaches "there is no one God but Allah," and "God is one in His Person, His Attributes and His Works." There are additional teachings, most of which follow the religious beliefs of other religions. In the ninth month of the year (different times of the year, because they follow the lunar calendar), Islamic Muslims make a pilgrimage to Mecca. This month is known as Ramadan. During the month of Ramadan, most Islamic people are prohibited from eating or drinking from dawn until sunset. The only exceptions are small children, pregnant women and those working in the medical field. The principles of Islam are to pray five times a day (in Muslim countries, there are regular calls to prayer), believe in the bible, perform charity work, and study the Koran. The Fruit of Islam is the military section of the MCI.

The Astronomical Calculations and Ramadan Zulfiqar Ali Shah 2009-01-01 This book shatters the myth that naked-eye sighting of the new moon and completing thirty days in the case of weather-related or other obscurities are the only two valid methods of determining the month of Ramadan. The author explains that certainty, not actual sighting, is the real objective of the Shariah and that the Qur'an does not mandate physical sighting. A careful analysis shows that those hadiths that seemingly require sighting actually require certainty. The assertion that all Muslim scholars prohibit the use of astronomical calculations, both in affirming or negating the month of Ramadan, is not correct. As calculation is now more accurate than naked-eye sighting, due to certain astronomical and scientific advancements, the use of calculation is the closest to the real objective of the Shari'ah and to the spirit of the hadiths.
